Screening the Cascade Saloon

Thursday, November 15, 7pm-8pm
408 South Elm Street

Join us for a special screening of the short film "Cascade: Caring for a Place" (2018) at the Saloon!

There will be two shows: 7:00 and 8:00 followed by short discussion with the filmmaker and short tours of the building.

The preservation of the Cascade Saloon, one of the oldest remaining historical buildings in Greensboro, has been 15 years in the making, and was accomplished through community partnerships and a lot of determination. Located at the railroad tracks on Elm Street in downtown Greensboro, the Cascade Saloon was built in 1895 and for years stood empty as a lonely reminder of the city's transportation culture and its historical complexity. The restoration of the building has been documented in a short film by Michael Frierson, Professor in Media Studies at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Historical stills and interviews with key partners provide context as we see the building's slow transformation from a decaying, abandoned shell to a vibrant workplace. Run time 17 minutes.

This FREE event will have limited seating, reservations are required. Reservations are open to all members of Preservation Greensboro, and all non-members are welcome to reserve seating on and after Thursday November 8.

Please contact our offices BY EMAIL or by phone for questions.

The Architecture of England
September 10 - September 17, 2019
London-Cambridge-The Cotswolds-Bath

England is an obvious travel destination for preservationists. From Inigo Jones to Sir John Soane to Norman Foster, the British are passionate about the romance of historic architecture.

Here in North Carolina, our affection for British architecture goes deeper. In Greensboro, several of our most historic sites reflect English themes. Our magnificent Julian Price Designer Showhouse in April 2018 was held in a stately Tudor Manorhouse, replete with half-timberwork, herringbone brickwork, and sturdy towers. In June 2018 we enjoyed the Miramichi Gardens, a landscape that would make any Duke or Earl feel at home.

Lindley-Coble Farmhouse for Relocation

The Lindley family built this frame farmhouse about 1905, but since 1912 it has been in the Coble family. The once simple house was adorned with a two-story verandah with wrought-iron details in the twentieth-century. A handsome barn is also located on the property, built in the early 1940s by German prisoners of war.

The house and barn are available for relocation to another site. Relocation will be a challenge, but also rewarding. If interested, please contact us.

Throw a Party - Help Preservation!

Love A Landmark parties are gatherings of neighborhood preservationists, hosted by one or more neighborhood residents, who come to meet other preservationists and to learn more about Greensboro's active preservation community.

Guests contribute a membership level donation in honor of their host's hospitality to Preservation Greensboro. Proceeds will support Preservation Greensboro's advocacy work.

Help build your neighborhood's preservation network by hosting a Love A Landmark party in 2019! Enjoy light refreshments, meet some new folks, and get the inside track on preservation in the city.

Victorian Christmas at Blandwood

November 8 through December 30

Blandwood Mansion 447 West Washington Street

The Early Victorian Period in Greensboro was one of growth and change, as new educational and industrial opportunities brought a greater diversity of traditions and customs to the region. During this period, holiday festivities evolved and changed as modest "backwoods" practices began to embrace national and international traditions.

Explore Blandwood to learn about evolving mid-nineteenth century holiday traditions. The mansion is fully decorated in local and period greenery, as if prepared for a grand Christmas Ball! Guided tours are offered during museum hours, and group tours are encouraged.

Normal tour hours and admission will apply. Blandwood is open for tours Tuesday through Saturday from 11am till 4pm, and on Sundays from 2pm till 5pm. Closed on Mondays.

Special Days: Blandwood will be closed Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and from New Year's Day through January

4th. The house will re-open for tours January 5h.

Group Tours: Plan a Fun Day at Blandwood!

Plan to explore Blandwood with friends this fall. Or...after November 8 your group can see the house decorated as a Victorian Christmas! Group tours larger than 10 benefit from a discounted rate of $7. Let us help plan your visit so that we are ready for your group of any size. We can recommend nearby lunch spots, too!

For students, Blandwood is the best place to learn about North Carolina history! All scheduled NC school groups tour Blandwood for FREE admission. We request that school groups have one chaperone per 10 children.

Please book tours two weeks in advance. Plan your group tour to Blandwood by calling 336-272-5003.

PGI Annual Meeting Announced

We are excited to announce that G. Edwin "Eddie" Belk, founder of Belk Architecture, will be the keynote speaker at our Annual Meeting on Wednesday, February 13th, 2019.

Belk has built a reputation for reviving treasured industrial buildings into community economic engines by enhancing historic features and placemaking. The Rowan County native has converted some of North Carolina's most prominent tobacco warehouses and textile mills by preserving their hand-made bricks and heart-pine floors.
