2019 Preservation Watch List

The Treasured Places Watch List is an advocacy and education program of Preservation Greensboro that promotes historic places with community partners with the goal of developing preservation strategies. Although Greensboro has enjoyed a recent uptick in preservation projects ranging from textile mills to residential restorations, challenges remain in balancing private property rights with cultural responsibility.

Landmark Designation Considered

The Groome-Shevel Building, located at 536 South Elm Street in Old Greensboro, will be considered for Guilford County landmark designation this summer. The structure is part of Downtown Greensboro National Register Historic District and was erected in 1897. It once housed the Lunsford Richardson Drug Company. A complete restoration took place in 2017.

Raise the Roof!
Pruning Blandwood's Trees
The image to the left is the iconic north facade of Blandwood, designed by New York architect Alexander Jackson Davis! Do you see the facade? If you can't, then you might understand just how grateful Preservation Greensboro is for the support of C. T. Wilson Construction for their sponsorship of our summer initiative to raise the "tree canopy" roof to allow for an open view of the house from surrounding streets! Bonus points to C. T. Wilson for agreeing to have this done ahead of the MUSEP concert on August 25th!
